Developing Excellence in Teaching - Your Career Pathway

We believe in investing in people through a culture of high support and challenge and so, no matter what your role is within the organisation, you'll be entitled to a range of benefits - including a clear pathway of Professional Development.

Professional Development

We want to reward our staff and develop them throughout their career, that's why we offer a comprehensive and effective programme of professional development. It's at the heart of developing individuals and teams who not only understand excellence but can also deliver it. The Education Fellowship directly provides, and works in partnership to deliver, a range of professional development opportunities. It regularly reviews its extensive training provision and works across the Trust, in local clusters and individual academies to ensure provision addresses priority needs. Find out more here.

Salary

As a teacher working for the Fellowship you'll benefit from a competitive starting salary. We are developing our own pay policy, designed to attract and retain our teachers.

Your pay will be linked to your performance and not your length of service. This means that it is possible for you to increase your salary with us more quickly than ever before. Your starting salary will also be based on skills and experience. In addition our pay structure provides the opportunity for progression to our upper pay range, based on performance.

In addition to a basic salary there are other great benefits available including Teaching and Learning Responsibility payments if you take on more responsibility. There are also opportunities to award Teaching and Learning Responsibility payments for a short-term limited Project.

As an organisation we recognise the School Teachers Review Body for pay so there are excellent opportunities for pay rises.

Pensions

You will automatically join The Teachers' Pension Scheme, the second largest public sector pension scheme in the country.

It is a generous pension whose benefits are:

- You receive a guaranteed pension through the Teachers' Pension Scheme
- You pay into your pension and so does your employer. The employer contribution is 16.4%
- It's a Defined Benefit Scheme, registered with HM Revenue and Customs, based on your salary and service rather than investments
- Your pension will be a regular source of income when you retire – but you can also take some of it as a tax-free lump sum
- You'll join the career average arrangement and accrue benefits each year based on 1/57th of your pensionable earnings, including overtime.

Your quality of life may be improved! There are up to 13 weeks' holiday each academic year to pursue your interests, travel and spend time with family and friends.
